against the recommendation.

We also coverve that there is much bitter iccling in the discussion of the question in Illin als, and that some twenty odd country par gras have taken decided position against P. adleton. The papers have also very gen-rally published a long letter from the dis-tinguished Judge J. D. Catron, in which he declines the Democratic nomination for Gov-ernor, and in discussing political matters de-ciares "that Pendleton's nomination will ruin turbing influences have been introduced to jeopard our success on which such momentous results depend. The danger and folly of becoming partisans of any particular candidate is very clearly shown by the irritated feeling in indiana and illinois.

Hon. B. C. Ritter passed through the ty yesterday on his way to the Frankfort Convention. Mr. R. is now carnestly and heartly co-operating with the Democratic periy as the only hope for the country. A contrary impression had been created by his

ernor, and in discussing political matters deciares "that Pendieton's unantion will run the party."

The Democracy of these two States cannot afford to indulge in any such folly. They can only carry them by united and hearty action, and it is very unfortunate that any disturbing influences have been introduced to beartily co-operating with the Democratic party as the only hope for the country. A countrary impression had been created by his letter published early January, but he never supposed such a construction as was not intended would be placed upon it. The path of daty was clear to him then as now, and he did not hesitate to tollow it.

How to Save Fifty Per Cent.

Although the Courter's advertising rates are fifty per cent. higher than those of any other paper in Kentucky, yet, when circulation—which is the only true standard of value for advertising—is considered, they are more than fifty per cent. cheaper; and our columns daily show that this fact is duly understood and appreciated by the shrewd advertisers of Louisville.

We'ln a card, which will be found in its proper place, it will be seen that our old and esteemed fellow-citizen, Dr. J. W. Knight, puts the name of Charles J. Clarke, Esq., in nomination for Clerk of the Chancery Cont. Years ago Mr. Clarke was Clerk of that court and performed its duties faithfully and acceptably. He is worthy of the position and no better man could be elected to it.

W'' All good Democrats' in this city and county were appointed delegates to the Democratic State Convention. All who go to Frankfort for the purpose of attending the convention by paying full fare going will be bursed back on the certificate of the Secretary of the Convention without further charge.

The train will leave Frankfort for Louisville at 5.35 Saturday evening—by which bour the Convention will probably have adjourned.

bour the conversion will probably have adjourned.

To first be Democrate of the different ward clubs and the voters don't keep a sharp look-out, a certain interested clique will endeavy to secure the election of such school trustees as will introduce into our schools to the exclusion of our home-made books the series as will introduce into our schools to the exclusion of our home-made books the series of a Yankee concern which were rejected by the Board last year. The matter should be watched, and any such trickery promptly suppressed.

The election took place, and my majority over the other case and all the other cases from my St. save one, were referred to the Committee water, and any such trickery promptly suppressed.

The letter of "Sidney." which will be found in another column, has, as its date indicates, been on hand for some time: As Mr. Vallandigham has been so violectly and unjustly attacked in some papers outside of his own State recently, it is due to him that the views of one of the ablest and purest and truest men in Kentucky should be made public.

DAZZLING DAMNATION. The Splendors and Miseries of Parisian Life.

[From the New York Sun.] One of those startling exposures of the interior corruption and rottenness of Parisian society, which at intervals shock the moral sense of the whole world, has just been made through the agency of the civil tribunal of the Department of the Sates.

John Schumacher, aged, sixty-three rears, and his wife, aged fifty-six, bring uit under the provisions of the French ode against their daughter Catharine and her husband, a member of one of he oldest noble families of France, and whose full title is James Marie Armand, Jount de Guerry, de Beauregard, de fonbreuil, and Marquis d'Oryauit, for mannual allowance upon which to sub-Monbreuil, and Marquis d'Oryault, for an annual allowance upon which to subsist. Schumacher is by profession a cabdriver, owning two vehicles—one covsred for winter use and the other open for summer—and two horses, which he drives alternately. His wife keeps house horses, and washes the cabs. Both are Meteoric Showers.

Observatory in Washington, give some curious information in regard to the shower of meteors, which occurred in November last. The brighter meteors appeared at a hight of seventy-five miles above the earth, and were extinguished at a hight of fifty-five miles. The average length of their path was twenty-two miles. During the thickest of the shower they were counted at the rate of three thousand per hour. Their velocity was forty-four miles per second. The thickness of the stream from north to, south was six ty thousand miles; and it is estimate that there were forty thousand moteors to a lineal mile, or one meteor to every nine hundred thousand cubic miles of space. Professor Newcomb is of thopting that Tuttle's course of 1863, which these November meteors follow, is simply an agglomeration of meteorids, with sofar rays; and he thinks that the same i true of the other telescopic comets.

Mark Twain on General Washington' Negro Servant

The stirring part of this rated colored man's life properly braied colored man's life properly began with his death—that is to say, the notable features of his biography begin with the first time he died. He had been little heard of up to that time, but since then we have never ceased to hear of him; we have heaven cannot have hear of h

NAM those noted events."
From this period we hear no more of the favorite body-servant of General Washington until May, 1825, at which time he died again. A Philadelphia paper thus speaks of the sad occurrence:
"At Macon, Georgia, last week, a colered man named George, who was the avorite body-servant of General Washington."

ed to the grave by the entire population of Macon.

On the Fourth of July, 1830, and also of 1834 and 1836, the subject of this sketch was exhibited in great state upon the rostroun of the orator of the day, and in November of 1840, he died again.

The St. Louis Republican of the 25th of that month, spoke as follows:

"ANOTHER RELIC OF THE REVOLUTION of GONE.—George, once the favorite body-servant of tieneral Washington, died yesterday, at the house of Mr. John Leavenworth, in this city, at the venerable ago of ninety-five years. He was in the full possession of all his faculties up to the hour of his death, and distinctly recollected the first and second installasion, the surrender of Conwallis, the batcles of Frenton and Monmouth, the surferings of the patriot army at Valley forge, the proclamation of the Declaration of Independence, the speech of Patrick Henry in the Virginia House of Delegates, and many other old-time reminiscences of stirring interest. Few white men die lamented as was this agod negro. The funeral was very largely attended."

During the next ten or eleven years it subject of this aketch appeared at intervals at Fourth of July celebrations is various parts of the country, and was es-hibited upon the rostrum with flatterin success. But in the fall of 1855 he die again. The California papers thus spea of the event estimated that there were ten thousand people peresent at his funeral," The last time the subject of this sketch died, was in June, 1864; and until we learn the contrary, it is just to presume that he died permanently this time. The Michi-gan papers thus refer to the Sorrowful event:

with poverty, forced to resort to legal processedings to obtain from their millonaire daughter the pittance necessary to keep them from starving. One would hink shame alone would force her to grant it, without awaiting the decision of a court of law.

But this is by no means the worst feature of the case. The question will materally be asked: How did the daughter acquire such a fortune while her origin was so humble and her parent so poor? The answer, not hinted at, but openly stated in the French newspapers, is, that it was by the sale of her personal charms. Her customers were, like her husband, mobiemen, and when they had not money to give, she would obligingly take their promissory notes, which she afterward collected as she had opportunity. Her husband not only knew this when a hearried her, but, it is said, counived at her continuance of her infamous traffic long after their marriage, and even, sometimes, brought suit in his own name upon the notes which, as he restoriore, she took from her paramours instead of cash. So low has this representative of an an-

A large meeting of the Fenians of it Chicago district was field on yesterday Feniau hall, for the purpose of takin into consideration the present relation England and Ireland, and for the divising of means to efficiently carry the Irish national niovement. The the trian national niovement. the Irish national niovement. The brotherhood in this country has been unusually active of late, and, incited by the movements of the organization in the old country, are nursing their resources for the purpose of lending an effective and thorough aid in the great movement which soon threatens to be inaugurated. The meeting yesterday was the result of this active sympathy existing in Chicago, and, as a manifestation of its strength, must be accepted as evidence that in Chicago the Irish national movement still commands the same support that if did before the invasion of Canada.

An irrepressible enthusiasm and marked approbation of patriotic utterances characterized the assemblage yesterday, and in the proceedings they found auitable expression. The speakers impressed upon their hearers the necessity of prompt and vigorous action, and it was determined, by a unanimous vote that the mobilization of the Western Fenian army was an immediate necessity. Calls were made to fill up the vacant ranks, and, in response, hundreds signed the regimental muster-rolls. The organization here was never so perfect in details, material and pecuniary, as a present, and the demonstration of yesterday possesses a meaning significance.

After telling addresses were delivered by prominent members of the brotherhood, the meeting adjourned to meet again at an early day.
